Enrollment Increases Over Last Semester's

Women should have a better chance catching a man this semester, as there are 154 more male students than their female counterparts enrolled in the University this term! This is compared to an excess of 42 coeds over men students last semester.

The total enrollment on campus is almost 10 per cent greater than it was for the spring semester a year ago, but there are 8.6 per cent fewer students enrolled in the spring semester than there were in the fall semester of 1962-63.

By coincidence, the decrease of students from the first to the second semester, is the same for both this year and last year.

Graduate School enrollment is up 41 per cent from this time last year. There are now 519 students enrolled, as compared with 368 in the spring of 1962.

The University's branches in Bryan, Fostoria, Fremont, and Sandusky, have experienced a combined increase of 52 students. The jump from 577 to 629 equals a nine per cent increase as compared to last year's enrollment.

Approximately 84 per cent of the full time undergraduate students are housed on campus this semester, as compared to 81 per cent last semester. Of 4,972 students housed on campus, 2,099 are men, while 2,873 are women.

The Women's Residence Center houses the most students, with approximately 1,200 women, while Founders Quadrangle ranks second with about 900 coeds.

Rodgers Quadrangle is "home" for almost 800 Bowling Green male students, while Conklin Hall houses almost 300 men, to make it fourth from the largest as far as the number of students housed is concerned.

Upperclass enrollment increased while the number of freshmen decreased by 35, compared to a year ago.

The Junior Class showed the largest increase, with 321 more than the second semester of 1961-62.

Senior enrollment is up 123, and there are 5 more sophomores now, than there were a year ago.

Each of the three undergraduate colleges have more students now than a year ago.

The College of Education has the largest enrollment, with 3,598 students, 2,427 of whom are women.

In the College of Liberal Arts, with 1,558 students, and the College of Business Administration, with 1,179 enrolled, the men outnumber the women. There are 376 more males than females in the College of Liberal Arts, and the College of Business Administration has an overwhelming total of 749 more men than women.

There are 788 married students enrolled this semester, which is 126 more than a year ago.

There are 29 students from foreign countries attending Bowling Green this semester. This compares to 23 a year ago.

The number of students from out of Ohio increased by 118 to a total of 775, and the number of Ohio students increased by 487.

There are 127 entering freshmen this semester, and 35 transfer students.

There are also 53 special, transient and unclassified students, who help make up the total enrollment of 6,856. This is an increase of 611 students as compared to the 6,245 students who were enrolled in the spring semester of 1961-62.

PI KAPPA DELTA NATIONAL PRESIDENT Dr. Raymond Yeager, associate professor of speech, congratulates Dr. Nicholas M. Cripe, coach of the winning team in the Second Annual Forensic Honorary Debate Tournament held on campus last week end. Butler University sophomores, Michael McGee and Craig E. Pinkus, hold the plaques they received for being superior debate finalists. Dr. Otto F. Bauer, instructor in speech, was tournament director for the two-day competition in which 16 universities and colleges participated.

Political Scientist Urges Voters To Actively Participate In Game

More voters should participate in what is often referred to as "the great American game—politics," Dr. Jacqueline E. Timm, professor of political science urged.

Dr. Timm is co-chairman of the Institute on Public Service and the American voter scheduled for Friday night and Saturday, March 8 and 9 in the Union. The programs will be free and open to the public.

"One-third of the nonvoters," Dr. Timm said, "don't go to the polls simply because of lack of interest. One of the primary jobs of an office seeker is more than getting people to vote for him. It's getting the vote out in the first place."

She pointed out that the high 64 per cent turnout in the 1960

presidential election is still a poor showing and said the proportion of Americans who vote is less than that of British, French, or Italian on the average.

Dr. Timm said that the University is sponsoring the Institute, which includes as speakers U.S. Senators J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.), because educational institutions have a special obligation to create and maintain an interest in political processes.

"The purpose of the Institute," she explained, "is to promote greater awareness of the opportunities in public office, to focus attention on the political processes, and to reveal the power, obligations, and opportunities of the voter."

Dr. Emerson Shuck, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and co-chairman of the Institute with Dr. Timm, noted that the programs "will provide an unusual opportunity for residents of northwest Ohio as well as students and faculty to view the role of the American voter."

Also appearing on the Institute program will be William Coleman, chairman of the Ohio Democratic Central Committee; Elmer F. Cope, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio AFL-CIO; Mrs. Donald T. Francis, president, Ohio League of Women Voters; Dr. Arthur Peterson, director of Ohio Wesleyan University's Institute of Practical Politics; Roger Turrell, civic affairs manager for Armco Steel Co.; Dr. Donald C. Herzberg, director of Rutgers University's Eagleton Institute of Politics; and Dr. Warren E. Miller, director of National Election Studies at the University of Michigan Survey Research Center.

Kohl Hikers Trudge 58 Miles; Better 20 Hour Goal Mark By 3

By Sue Smith
NEWS Reporter

The flying Falcons have taken to the ground, and trudge along with the nation's latest challenge—the 50-mile hike.

The national epidemic hit the campus recently when four men, the Kohl Hall "road runners," completed a 58-mile hike in 17 hours and 10 minutes.

The craze was born when an old executive order, sent out by President Theodore Roosevelt in 1908, requiring all Marine Corps officers to be able to walk 50 miles in 20 hours was found by Marine Commandant David M. Shoup. The "relic" then was sent to President John F. Kennedy, another presidential advocate of vigor and physical fitness. The challenge was put into effect when the President asked Shoup if today's Marines were fit enough to do it.

The four Kohl Hall men made their jaunt to Napoleon and back on Route 6 in rebuff to a group of University of Toledo students who completed only 30 miles of a planned 50-mile walk.

"We did it mostly because we wanted to show-up TU," said

Charles A. Marshall. Marshall said that the hike was unplanned until a few hours before the 1 a.m. departure.

Marc J. Rinehart, another member of the hikers, admitted that, "Fifty-eight miles was a challenge indeed, but I will think twice before doing it again."

As they "sore-footed it" across the finish line at 6:10 p.m., accompanied by screaming blisters, the group's attitude was expressed by David R. Lampman as, "... dog-gone tired!"

The elemental conditions were "ideal" for the hike—15 degrees and windy! Ten-second breaks plus 30 minutes for breakfast in Napoleon proved sufficient. They enjoyed the attention and courtesy paid them by car and truck travelers, especially the fact that most all the women waved that "my hero" wave to them. The journey took courage because the troupe had to make many decisions like turning down a pick-up offer by several coeds.

It has been reported that another case of the epidemic is appearing in Rodgers Quadrangle. Six men plan a 50-mile to Fostoria and back, trying for 11 hours or less. This hike is proposed for a Saturday depending upon improved weather conditions.

BG Refuses Requests To New Women Students For Housing Forms

Dormitory facilities for women are filled for next fall, said Charles E. Perry, director of admissions.

Applications from women wishing to enroll as new students residing on campus for the fall semester, 1963, are now being deferred by the University.

Mr. Perry suggests that women apply for admission to the 10-week extended Summer Session for new students, or to the semester beginning in February, 1964. Women applying now for the summer session could expect to live on campus and continue their courses in February, 1964.

Mr. Perry also said that applications for admission to the University branches in Sandusky, Bryan, Fostoria, and Fremont will be accepted until registration next September.

A freshman class of 2,400 students is expected next fall. This is an increase of 400 more than last September's. Total campus enrollment is expected to reach 8,000, an increase of 500 more than last fall.

THEY REALLY WALKED IN. Four Kohl Hall residents decided to take a little walk, 58 miles worth, to prove that college students are not too soft to participate in the latest fad of 50 mile hikes. David R. Lampman, Charles

A. Marshall, Marc J. Rinehart, and David W. Seline (left to right) stopped hiking for a moment to hitch-hike for a NEWS photographer.

Editorially Speaking

Will Council Add Freshmen?

Will more representatives from the freshman class be added to Student Council membership?

The NEWS asked this question last year when a "more representation" amendment was proposed. We ask this question again.

Last year the proposal to add representatives was favored by a majority of Council. At the first vote on the constitutional amendment 17 members voted for the proposal. At the second vote, the proposal was defeated. (Each constitutional amendment requires approval of three-fourths majority at three consecutive Council meetings.)

The NEWS still favors the addition of freshmen to Council. Supposedly, council representatives do not represent a class but represent the student body as a whole. We maintain, however, that a representative will represent those with whom they associate most. At the present time, there are three representatives elected from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. In addition, the class presidents are members of Council. Thus each class has four persons on Council, but the freshman class has only one. With freshmen living in "segregated housing," Council representatives do not have a chance to hear their many grievances, for it is the freshmen who have grievances.

Representation is definitely disproportionate because of the large number of freshmen at the University in relation to the other classes.

Last year, a big problem seemed to hinge on the method of selecting the freshmen representatives. That problem still remains. However, it seems that the new proposal would include a good method of selecting these representatives. Not only would the new plan provide for the selection of representatives but it outlines a method to get freshmen interested in Council early. Personal contact during orientation, followed by a chance to demonstrate a real interest in student government, should promote the cause of student government from the freshman year through the senior year.

We feel the new representation amendment is good for the campus. We hope Council thinks it is good and will pass it.

Remember the baby alligator that Bowling Green entered in the First National Baby Alligator Races at Bakersfield College in California?

Well—"Babe" placed fourth in a heat involving 10 other alligators. First place went to Loyola of Chicago's entry and second place was taken by the University of Arizona. The University of Detroit's alligator placed third.

In the run-off heat, the entry from Montana State received the sweepstakes trophy. Loyola placed second and the University of North Carolina placed third. "Babe" received a blue ribbon for participating.

Ever have a professor who has the unerring talent for not saying exactly what he means? Brigham Young's college newspaper, The Daily Universe, has come up with the following translations:

What the professor says: "The textbook for this course will be one you will want to keep all your life."

What he really means: "The book costs $15.95, and they won't be buying it back next semester."

—My philosophy of teaching embodies the principles of certain academic disciplines." Translation: "I'm a bear!"

—I appreciate your remarks. Unfortunately, we don't have the time to pursue that line of thought." Translation: "Quit interrupting my lecture!"

—Of course, you all know that the honor system is in effect in this classroom." Translation: "You'll notice I've passed out alternate tests, and I'll monitor the classroom."

—I know you would enjoy delving more deeply into this interesting subject." Translation: "You'll be expected to hand in at least two research papers this term."

—The final grades will be determined on a rigid curve." Translation: "I plan to give one 'A' in this class."

—It might be well for me to cite one or two concrete examples of this principle." Translation: "Prepare to hear the history of my life."

—The final exam will be nothing more than a brief review."

Translation: "Memorize the textbook."

Three hundred and ninety-five students were dropped from Miami University after the end of the first semester, including 180 freshmen. Of this total, 212 students were dropped because they had not achieved at least a 1.0 or D average the first semester.

Miami has a new scholastic regulation providing a second semester of grace for freshmen. At the same time, this regulation calls for higher scholastic requirements for upperclassmen. This may have accounted for the high upperclassmen drop out and the lower freshman drop out.

Resignations seem to be very common at Findlay College. And most of them seem to be over the problem of censorship of the college publications by the administration.

As it was reported in last week's College Circuit, Mrs. Frankie Foster, editor of the newspaper, and Edward Morris, an English teacher who was in charge of the school's publicity for one year, resigned in protestation of the administration's censorship.

Now, Mrs. Barbara Williamson, editor of the Argus, the college's yearbook, has resigned. According to the college newspaper, The Tabloid, her resignation was a result of her refusal to accept supervision of her work and her activity with the so-called student complaints committee.

Both Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Williamson have charged the college with censorship of publications. To this charge, Glenn Butler, director of public relations answered: "All this talk about censorship is pure nonsense. The only newspaper articles about which I have ever questioned the editor's judgment are those that were libelous to students or faculty, those that contained indiscreet statements, or were completely inaccurate or incomplete in the information therein contained. Even then the editor was always given the prerogative of resubmitting the article in question once the necessary corrections or changes were made."

Case On Campus

By Jim Casey
NEWS Associate Editor

A few people have seen fit to say that this column, at times, has smacked of sensationalism and controversy.

Democratic fellow that I am, I can only say that these people are certainly entitled to their own opinions. But, may Dean Double-you Doubleyou strike me down if the sole purpose of this column was ever to create controversy for controversy's sake.

Like other people, I have opinions too. And I am about to express an opinion about the recent trial of Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity by the Judicial Board of the Intrafraternity Council.

However, I feel it only right to point out that my opinion is not necessarily that of the NEWS. It is not to be taken as absolute, unarguable fact, and anyone disagreeing with the opinion has the right to write a letter to the editor to air his or her views.

Okay. Here goes something that I could get in hot water over my head.

Let's look at the facts first.

On the afternoon of February 16 certain members of the IFC's rush rules enforcement committee received a phone call from a member of a fraternity on campus. This fraternity man told the committee that some brothers of Alpha Tau Omega were "dirty rushing" down at a tavern on Main Street.

Three members of the enforcement committee went down to the tavern to investigate. This was their job. They found that the ATOs were there, sitting at a table with 12 rushees, and drinking.

After this, the prosecutor for the IFC brought charges against the ATOs, but not for any alleged rush violation; rather, the charges were for violating some catch-all sections in the aims and purpose of the IFC in that organization's constitution. The main issue of the trial was drinking, not "dirty rushing," as this type of rushee-fraternity unregistered party is known in Greek circles.

During the trial, the prosecution asked for a penalty of one year social probation and a fine not less than $600 for ATO. However, the Judicial Board saw fit to rule that the penalty should be one year probation and added that the probation would include no rushing or pledging during that year—thus dropping the $600 fine.

Now for the opinion.

Even though in past years other fraternities have been thrown off campus for doing the same thing, the penalty was a bit too strong for the situation. True, ATO was in the wrong and used bad judgment. But as the situation stood, the drinking regulation the past year has not been rigidly enforced.

Case On Campus

Take, for example, a trial of seven members of another fraternity, tried by the same board in January, for being involved in a fight in Bradner and where drinking was involved. The seven members were let go scott free because the prosecution could not prove that those seven were involved in the fight. This is all well and good. But, the fraternity as a whole was not charged for drinking, which is contrary to University regulations, as we well know. (I have heard that, in this situation, the drinking issue was not brought up because the tavern-owners were serving after hours and if this was brought out by the prosecution the owners would have lost their license to serve alcoholic beverages.)

However, in comparing these two trials (and maybe they shouldn't be compared), it seems that the IFC and its Judicial Board sees fit to turn off and turn on the drinking enforcement whenever it desires. There is need for a uniform policy here. Possibly, the decision against the ATOs is the beginning of a standard policy.

The other fraternity that informed the enforcement committee about the ATOs appeared to be practicing a policy of "do as I say, not as I do." Heaven knows that every fraternity has, at one time or another, been involved in dirty rushing. The sad part about it is the quibbling, the sneering, and the "squealing" that is always involved in dirty rush situations.

Leave the policing up to the enforcement committee. Nobody likes a tattletale. You aren't helping to promote the Greek system, but you're destroying it tattletale by tattletale.

In the last two trials I have covered for the NEWS, the Judicial Board, the prosecution, and even the defense have been dreadfully unorganized. The prosecution and defense have argued on points that were irrelevant to the charges, and some student members of the board did not know what was coming off. These were probably due to the fact that the prosecution, the defense, and the students on the board were unfamiliar with the methods of jurisprudence.

Some degree of unorganization is to be expected, but certainly not to the degree that has been shown so far. It is my opinion that these people should get together with the faculty members of the board, practice these methods of law, and buy a couple of law textbooks.

The Judicial Board has the capability and the ability to be one of the finest found on any college campus in the nation if the board desires. For the sake of the fraternities and students, I hope the desire is there.

Who knows? The board could be the birthplace of a second Clarence Darrow.

Stage Set Up, Lack Of Polish Hinder A Cappella Concert

By Richard L. Arthur
NEWS Music and Drama Critic

The A Cappella Choir was rather disappointing Sunday evening. The musical ability of the people in this group is higher than that reflected in the concert.

From our point of view, the difficulty lies in two areas. First, in any concert the physical surrounding contributes in no small degree to the quality of the performance. We feel that the necessity of setting the grand ballroom lengthwise is unfortunate, but it was especially so for this concert. It seems to us that much of the impersonal nature of this particular performance could have been avoided had the choir been put in the bay window. They were too far away from an unforgivably small audience.

Music Group Presents American Musicale

The Fourth Annual American Musicale, sponsored by the members of Sigma Alpha Iota, professional fraternity for women in music, will be presented at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow in Recital Hall, of the Music Bldg.

Featured in the program is the performance of a Mass, which Sigma Alpha Iota commissioned Paul Paster to write especially for this occasion. Mr. Paster is the husband of a University faculty member, Sophie G. Paster, instructor in music.

The orchestration of the Mass includes three women's voice parts, flute, viola, violin, cello, and continuo. Patricia J. Shields, a senior, will direct the ensemble.

Those performing in the program are: Constance V. Brinza, Constance A. Cowan, Martha S. Ehlert, Carolyn Hohn, Carol J. Jeffery, Patricia A. Schuller, and Michele Y. Zimmerman.

The purpose of the program is to promote American contemporary music. There is no charge for admission.

BG Clinches Tie For MAC Title With Record-Setting 114-86 Victory

COME HERE YOU. Bob Carbaugh, three-basket hero of last night's game, reaches for an elusive ball. Carbaugh scored the baskets that set three Bowling Green team records. One was a field house mark, another was a Mid-Am record, and the third was a team scoring mark. The Falcons were never in trouble as they won their ninth straight. The BG record is now 17-6.

Swimmers Lose To Miami; To Meet Ball State Next

The Falcon swim squad fell to the powerful Miami tankers, 61-34, Saturday in the Natatorium. This is the first time that Bowling Green has bowed to the Redskins in the eleven years that the two teams have met.

Miami's Joe Shaw set a new pool record in the 20-yard medley with a 2:11.8 timing. Shaw also placed first in the 500-yard freestyle and 200-yard butterfly events.

Falcon Mike Symons, although coming in second behind Shaw in the 500-yard freestyle, set a BG record in that event with a 3:35.3 clocking.

Miami also set a Natatorium record in the 400-yard freestyle relay in 3:28.8.

Falcon tankers who placed first included Paul Schreiber, Rick Pixley, Marty Schenk, and Paul Bennett, 400-yard medley relay; Schreiber, 200-yard backstroke; and Pixley, 200-yard breaststroke.

The Miami contest was the final home meet for co-captain Howie Comstock, Bob Knauer, Bob Leece, and Wayne Stiffler, who are senior members of the Falcon swim squad.

"Comstock, Knauer, and Stiffler have been Mid-American Conference finalists and valuable squad members," said Sam Cooper.

Bowling Green, now 7-10 will face Ball State tomorrow in Muncie, Indiana.

TU Beats Marshall To Stay With BG

The Toledo Rockets kept pace with the Falcons in the MAC race with a 63-58 defeat of Marshall Saturday night. The Rockets were surprised early in the game when the Big Green took a 23-15 lead, but Toledo tied the score at the half.

With less than a minute to play, TU led by one, then Ken Miller converted the one-and-one to give the Rockets a three-point lead.

Ray Wolford led Toledo with 24 points and 17 rebounds.

In other action, Ohio U. edged Kent State 64-62. Mike Haley scored his only basket of the night with two seconds remaining to beat the luckless, last-place Flashes. Kent, which earlier lost to Bowling Green by four at home, was behind by three at the half.

The score was tied 10 times. Dennis Klug took individual scoring honors with 27 points. Jerry Jackson had 17 for Ohio.

The pressure is on Toledo now. Bowling Green clinched at least a tie for the Mid-American Conference championship last night when they soundly trounced a young Marshall team, 114-86. BG is now 17-6, Marshall is 6-15.

Tomorrow Toledo travels to Kalamazoo to meet a Western Michigan club Bowling Green beat 82-75 Saturday. The Falcons had their troubles with Western, and Toledo has to win that one to tie BG for the title. Chances are, more Bowling Green fans will be listening to a Toledo game tomorrow than ever before.

In last night's victory, Bob Carbaugh scored three baskets and all were BG scoring records. Carbaugh, senior reserve, scored at 3:59 in the second half to make it 104-70, an Anderson Arena scoring mark. He scored a few seconds later to give the Falcons 106 points and a BG record for MAC games. Finally, Carbaugh set a team scoring record for all games when his basket made it 112-82.

It is hard to believe that this was the same Marshall team that had given Toledo such a hard time before bowing, 63-58. The Falcons moved to a quick 8-0 lead before Larry Williams scored for the Big Green at 18:01.

Marshall narrowed the margin to 16-12 before BG went on another scoring spree to up the margin to 28-12.

Coach Harold Anderson took out the first of his starters, Mel Gilbert, at 9:27, and the last of the starters, Butch Komives and Nate Thurmond left at 2:31 when it was 55-29.

Komives already had 19 points at the half. The Falcons had shot .522 from the field to take a 63-35 lead and sew up the game early.

With not quite ten minutes gone in the second half, Thurmond tipped in a missed shot to give Bowling Green an 89-52 lead, its largest of the night.

But the crowd, strangely silent most of the game, was waiting for the big points. They got them when Billy Reynolds hit on two free throws to make it 100-68 at 5:17. Shortly after that, Carbaugh started setting records.

Neither team seemed to be particularly "high" for the game. It was suggested by Coach Anderson after the contest that Marshall may have left a lot of their game at Toledo.

The Falcons seemed to be playing a loose, free-wheeling game. In fact, after the reserves came in toward the end things got sloppy. Urged on by the crowd, BG was playing for points, not for defense. The 86 points scored by Marshall was the most by a Falcon opponent this year.

Komives led the scoring for both clubs with 28 points. Thurmond had 27 points and 15 rebounds. The only other Falcon in double figures was Billy Reynolds with 14 points, but 12 BG players got in the scoring column.

Larry Williams led Marshall with 17 points. Walt Smittle added 15 points for the losers.

The Falcons cooled off a little after the intermission and finished with a .473 percentage from the floor. BG made 26 of 36 free throw attempts for a .722 percentage, and outrebounded the visitors 66-47.

Marshall had a .450 shooting percentage from the floor, but could only make 14 of 24 from the free throw line.

Falcons Beat WM 82-75

The Falcons cleared their big hurdle Saturday night when they defeated the Broncos. Bench strength describes as well as anything the BG victory.

Coach Anderson started senior Mel Gilbert in place of the injured Elijah Chatman and Gilbert came through with 18 points and eight rebounds. Gilbert had only played in 13 previous games. When Pat Haley had trouble finding the range in the first half, Anderson sent in Bill Reynolds who made a quick basket. Reynolds finished with 14 points. In contrast, the two Broncos who came off the bench did not score.

The Falcons held an early 8-6 lead, but Western came on with a rush to move ahead by 10 points at 6:40. Then BG came back, and a basket by Reynolds just before the end of the half tied the score, 37-37.

In the second half both teams traded baskets until Gilbert scored at 9:50 to give Bowling Green a 59-57 lead. The Falcons never trailed again, but Western kept it close until there were less than four minutes in the game.

Bowling Green was leading 70-69 when Reynolds scored. Manny Newsome missed one for Western, then Nate Thurmond scored for BG. Reynolds scored at 2:10 to make it 76-69 and the Falcons had the ball game.

BG maintained at least a five-point lead the rest of the way. A basket by Reynolds with a minute to go was the final score of the night.

Thurmond led the Falcons with 21 points and also collected 18 rebounds to lead both teams in that department. Butch Komives had 14 points, joining Gilbert and Reynolds in double-figure scoring.

Newsome led the Bronco scoring with 24 points. Bill Street had 18 points, Dave Anderson, 14 points and Ajac Triplett, 11 points.

The Falcons outrebounded the Broncos 46-35, but shot 42 per cent from the field to Western's 44 per cent. Bowling Green made 10 of 20 from the free throw line, while Western made 19 of 27.

Wrestlers Lose To Kent State

The Falcon varsity wrestlers ended their dual meet season with a 15-12 loss to Kent State Saturday in Anderson Arena.

There were three draws in the meet and each team won two decisions for a 12-12 tie going into the final match. Then Ron Krueger lost a narrow 2-0 decision to Kent's Bob Thiele, and that was the meet.

The Falcons' Dave Kile, 123 pounds, George Marshall, 130 pounds, and Bill Regnier, 147 pounds, all drew with their opponents. Bill Murphy, 157 pounds, decisioned Kent's Wayne Linke, 5-2 and BG's Joe Barnard, 167 pounds, decisioned Lynn Jackson, 4-2.

The Falcons finish their season with a 4-4-2 mark. Kent is 7-2.

This week end, Bowling Green will be host to the Mid-American Conference Championships. Matches will be held Friday and Saturday. Finals will be Saturday afternoon. Toledo University is the defending champion.

Assignment: design a suspension that "paves" its own way!

Result: "Cushion Recoil" provides a dramatically smoother ride in 1963 Ford-built cars

The challenge given Ford engineers was to design suspensions that would permit wheels virtually to roll with the punches—not only in a vertical plane but fore-and-aft as well. Conventional suspension systems provide only a partial solution to road shocks by limiting wheel recoil to an up-and-down motion.

The solution? Exclusive Cushion Recoil suspension design in all Ford-built cars for '63! Cushion Recoil, with cushioning action in a fore-and-aft plane as well as vertical, smoothes the jars and jolts of rough roads, adds to your comfort, safety, and driving pleasure. Even the thump of freeway tar strips is reduced, and on deeply rutted roads you experience better control of the car. Furthermore, your Ford-built car is spared the wear and tear of road-induced vibration.

Another assignment completed—one more example of engineering excellence at Ford and new ideas for the American Road.

SOAKS UP ROAD SHOCK. Exclusive Ford Motor Company Cushion Recoil action moves back as well as up for a smoother ride.

Pistol Packin' Professors Start 'Shooting Society'

A group of University faculty members with a common interest—a love of guns and shooting—have founded a new organization on campus, the Faculty Pistol Club.

In the spring of last year, Dr. James Q. Graham Jr., instructor in history; Dr. Ralph W. Frank, associate professor of geography; and Dr. Averill J. Hammer, professor of chemistry, conceived the idea of organizing a Faculty Pistol Club.

Although the Pistol Club is still in the organizational stage, inter-club competition and practice firing are held each Monday at 7 p.m. on the University's indoor rifle range, located in the basement of Hayes Hall.

Each Pistol Club member owns his own .22 caliber target pistol, which he fires on the Hayes Hall range. Although the range is restricted to .22 caliber weapons, some members own .38 and .45 caliber pistols, which they fire in the summer on outdoor ranges.

Some members have been experimenting with different grades of powder in attempts to increase the accuracy of their shooting.

Dr. Hammer stated, "The chief interest of our club is in the development of the art of precision pistol shooting; however, some of the members are actively engaged also in rifle shooting on outdoor range."

Faculty Pistol Club members include Dr. Hammer, Dr. Graham, Dr. Frank, Dr. Mearl R. Guthrie Jr., professor of business education; Dr. Cecil M. Freeburne, professor of psychology; Dr. Milford S. Loughheed, associate professor of geology; Dr. Bruce R. Vogeli, associate professor of mathematics; and Sergeant First Class Nicholas Kalivas, instructor in military science.

Official Announcements

Schedules for the testing programs for the extended summer session will be issued Friday by the Office of Admissions. Students planning to attend the summer session will be tested on March 30 or April 6.

Applications blanks for grants-in-aid may be obtained in the Financial Aids Office, 211 Administration Bldg., after Friday. The deadline for filing for the grants is April 15.

Room reservations for campus residence halls for the summer sessions and the first semester of next year are scheduled to be taken by the Housing Office during the first week in March. Students should check their respective dormitories for scheduled dates in each of the residence halls.

Robert G. Rudd, director of residence services, reminds all students that a $10 administrative service charge is due with each room reservation. The fee must be paid by all students whether living on or off campus.

Applications for room reservations may be obtained at each residence hall.

Student Civil Liberty Panel Discusses University Rules

The effect of University regulations on the civil liberties of Bowling Green students was the topic of discussion at the final session of a three-panel series entitled "The Student—His Freedom—Responsibility and Self-discipline."

Sponsored by the United Christian Fellowship, the panel was held Sunday in the Dogwood Suite. The discussion, moderated by the Rev. M. Eugene Davis, director of the U.C.F., consisted of two 10 minute presentations by panel members John R. Larson and Kathy J. Battles, both sophomores in the College of Liberal Arts.

Miss Battles spoke on the possible modifying of University regulations. Using the University catalog as a reference, she examined attendance policies, students on warning, and student withdrawals from the University.

The second panel speaker, John Larson, based his 10 minute presentation on the idea that "the University imposes regulations on students to help them achieve their desired intellectual goals in life."

The two remaining panel members: Harry Wainwright Jr., associate director of U.C.F., and William Dodge, assistant director of U.C.F., then questioned Larson and Battles on points in their presentations.

Following the panel discussion, a question period was opened to members of the audience to direct questions to the panel members. Rev. Davis then summarized the panel's presentations.

The four residence halls for women in Founders Quadrangle, Treadway, Harmon, Lowry, and Mooney, are named in memory of four men who had leading roles in the legislative beginnings of the institution when it was founded in 1910.

Can you meet the challenge of a COMPANY ON THE MOVE?

What kind of career are you looking for? One with a sound, stable organization where you'll want to put your roots down? Or one with a dynamically growing company that offers excitement and stimulation?

Marathon could be both—if you can meet the challenge of a company on the move.

Marathon markets petroleum products in 17 states, operates 4,000 miles of pipelines and four refineries (two more under construction—in Spain and West Germany), produces in 21 states, Libya and Canada, and explores on five continents.

In little more than three years, our refining capacity has tripled, crude oil reserves have increased by more than half, and our marketing area has more than doubled.

This makes Marathon one of the fastest growing companies in the oil industry. Yet behind the rapid growth lies 75 years of solid experience.

Across Marathon's spectrum of exploration, production, refining, transportation, marketing and research are growth opportunities in practically every professional field—for those who qualify and can meet the challenge.

Present openings in accounting, sales and procedures research (computers) can lead to positions of greater responsibility in many areas. On-the-job training is combined with a tuition-aid program.

See Marathon's representative on campus or direct inquiries to Mr. Tom S. Thompson, Supervisor of Recruitment and Placement, Marathon Oil Company, Findlay, Ohio.
